MAZDA FINANCIAL SERVICES OFFERS PAYMENT RELIEF TO CUSTOMERS AFFECTED BY HURRICANE IDA

mazdausa.com

Mazda Financial Services (MFS) announced it is offering payment relief options to its customers affected by Hurricane Ida, which made landfall in Louisiana and has been moving across the southern United States.

This broad outreach includes any Mazda Financial Services customer in the designated disaster areas.

Mazda Financial Services cares about the safety and well-being of its customers and wants to help those suffering from this natural disaster. Impacted lease and finance customers residing in the affected area may be eligible to take advantage of several payment relief options, some of which include:

- extensions and lease deferred payments;
- redirecting billing statements; and
- arranging phone or online payments

Customers who would like to discuss their account options are encouraged to contact MFS by calling 866-693-2332 or through email using the Mail Center function after logging into MazdaFinancialServices.com.

We extend our heartfelt thoughts to those affected by this storm.

HINO TRUCKS REVEALS FIRST XL8 FUEL CELL ELECTRIC TRUCK PROTOTYPE

hino.com

Less than a year ago, Hino Trucks announced that it was building a Class 8 hydrogen fuel cell electric truck. The company made good on this promise with the reveal of its first Class 8 Hino XL8 prototype powered by a hydrogen fuel cell electric drivetrain, at the 2021 ACT Expo in Long Beach, California.

"It's amazing what our team has been able to accomplish in a relative short period of time. I know our customers are going to be extremely impressed with this fuel cell electric truck," said Glenn Ellis, Senior Vice President Customer Experience, Hino Trucks.

"We are looking forward to validating the performance, reliability and efficiency of our hydrogen fuel cell electric system in the XL Series chassis," continued Glenn Ellis.

DID YOU KNOW...

When fossil fuels are burned to produce electricity to power your vehicle, carbon dioxide is released into the atmosphere.

Carbon emissions then cause climate change by trapping heat.

We know that you want to make sure you aren't harming the environment when you make purchases, and you want to support companies that feel the same way.

That's why we've partnered with The Carbon Offset Company @thecarbonoffsetcompany to plant 15 trees per vehicle sold! And each tree offsets 679.7 pounds of carbon!

With our partnership and promise of planting 15 trees for every vehicle that we deliver, we know it will take a small step towards making a huge difference for the environment!

EMPLOYEE NEWS

WELCOME NEW EMPLOYEES

"From our Project Z announcement last October, we have received significant interest from customers, and now we have something tangible to show them in our prototype FCEV" stated Bob Petz, Senior Vice President of Vehicle and Parts Sales, Hino Trucks.

Commercial customers who are interested in learning more about the hydrogen fuel cell electric Hino XL8 can view it live here <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YyazZk2ICPA>

For energy intensive applications like long-haul and heavy-duty trucks, hydrogen is one of the most interesting energy carriers, presenting operators with a quiet, smooth and continuously strong performance, all without emitting any emissions.

A major industry for North America, whether hauling foods, farming goods, construction materials or clothes, trucks are almost everywhere in the continent, with very few commuters being able to travel down the highway without seeing one. Sadly, many of these vehicles emit high amounts of carbon emissions and cause harm to the environment.

However, this is something that North America, with the help of its thriving mobility sector, hopes to change with the introduction of zero emission technologies such as hydrogen.
