THE BEST FEATURES OF THE 2023 MAZDA CX-9

By Sourav Banik

The 2023 Mazda CX-9 is a "Jack-Of-All-Trades" among three-row SUVs, with good power, handsome looks, a rich cabin, and great safety under one roof.

Mazda has well-prepared itself for the practicality war and currently boasts an impressive inventory of SUVs. Mazda's SUVs are extremely promising, and they are beautifully balanced between good looks and utility.

The 2023 Mazda CX-9 is one of the best three-row SUVs on the market if you're looking for good performance and practicality, along with decent luxury and a myriad of features and creature comforts.

The 2023 CX-9 is equipped with a 2.5-liter turbo four-cylinder engine combined with an all-wheel-drive system to deliver decent performance irrespective of where you take it for a ride. The CX-9 is one of the safest SUVs with numerous driver-assist features and impressive safety scores as well.

As of September 1st, we have planted 16,740 Trees to help offset carbon footprints.

SCHWARTZ MAZDA LIFETIME WARRANTY PROTECTION

When you purchase a Mazda, you can feel confident in knowing that you're the proud, new owner of a quality vehicle. Other dealerships may promise that their vehicles are solid, in great shape, and without problems, but our dealership warrants the engine of this vehicle with a Lifetime Engine Limited Warranty.

FOUR REASONS THE NEW 2023 MAZDA CX-50 BEATS THE HONDA CR-V

by Dan Mayfield – edited

If you're looking to buy a small SUV, it's hard to beat the 2023 Mazda CX-50 or the 2023 Honda CR-V. They're both comfy, roomy, five-seat SUVs that are reliable. But the CX-50 is an all-new model this year for Mazda, and it brings CX-5 level performance with a modicum of off-road abilities. The CR-V is all new for 2023, too.

While both are good choices, there are several reasons a CX-50 may be a better option.

1) The Mazda CX-50 raises the off-road bar. The Mazda CX-50 is an all-new SUV for 2023. Sort of. It's heavily based on the Mazda CX-5, but to make the transition, the CX-50 was beefed up. The ground clearance of the CX-5 is just 7.5 inches. That's enough to get over speed bumps at the mall, but not for the trails. The CX 50 has 9.1 inches, enough to give the same clearance as several pickup trucks. It looks more like a tall SUV wagon, dare we say a Subaru than the CX-5. And, its body sits lower on that taller suspension to give the wheels a bit more of an off-road look than the fender-filling CX-5.

2) The Mazda has more trim options than the CR-V. The CX-50 comes in 10 trim levels. The base is the S Select, and it comes well-appointed with a 10.25-inch screen. Step up to the Preferred Package and you get a rear center armrest, a power liftgate, an eight-way driver's seat and more. The Preferred Plus gets a power panoramic moonroof. All packages come with the i-Activ all-wheel drive with special off-road modes. The CX-50 starts at $26,800 but with options, it can cost $41,550.

Mazda sells the 2023 CX-9 with a starting price of $38,750 and five different trims. It competes strongly with the likes of the Kia Telluride and Ford Explorer. While the CX-9 comes loaded with features, we'll go over its best features and other impressive features below.

The 2023 Mazda CX-9's Powertrain Is Its Best Feature

For the 2023 model year, Mazda equipped the CX-9 with a dependable powertrain designed to perform on all types of surfaces. Mazda keeps the CX-9's engine section very simple with only one engine on offer, but there's a twist. All trims come standard as all-wheel-drive models, and it's the only drivetrain option Mazda offers.

The CX-9's Skyactiv-G 2.5 Turbo four unit is unique in the market, and it offers an impressive 227 horsepower and 310 pound-feet of torque with the regular 87 octane fuel, providing admirable performance and pushing it to accelerate from 0-60 mph in around 7.1 seconds. However, if you are keen to milk out more output from the engine, use the 93 octane fuel and see the power figures climb to a stout 250 horsepower and 320 lb-ft of punch, enough to propel the CX-9 from rest to 60 mph in less than 7 seconds.

Mazda has also installed the unit with the G-Vectoring Control Plus function, which is Mazda's way of marketing the torque vectoring feature.

The torque vectoring feature tailors different torque distributions to each wheel. This helps the driver take confident sharp turns and decreases the chances of oversteer. The i-Active system also employs a feature called Off-Road Traction Assist that monitors B-road conditions to deliver better off-road performance.

The Premium-Finished Interior Is The Mazda CX-9's Hallmark

The 2023 Mazda CX-9's interior is one of its best attributes. If you're impressed by the sleek exterior design of the CX-9, hold on to your nerves till you take a peek at its interior. Inside, the CX-9 arrives appointed with an ambitiously finished cabin, meticulously designed to take luxury and

3) The CX-50 comes with all-wheel drive standard. All CX-50s come standard with all-wheel drive. It has an off-road mode, as well as a towing mode. Honda's all-wheel-drive system is available on all models, and standard on the Sport Touring trim.

4) The Mazda CX-50 has an optional 256-horsepower engine. The Mazda comes standard with 2.5-liter four-cylinder engine that makes 187 horsepower. But you can order a 2.5-liter Dynamic Pressure Turbo that makes up to 256 horsepower. The more powerful version is available on the 2.5 T, 2.5 Premium, and Premium Plus versions of the CX-50. You get a six-speed auto with either motor.

comfort to a new level. The cabin's layout is stylish, and it is crafted with durable materials, promising great build quality.

The dashboard design is driver-friendly and has a sleek appeal. The upper parts are covered with synthetic leather to provide a premium feel and the middle parts with aluminum or black piano leather. The door panels are covered with soft-touch leatherette materials, and other parts are embellished with genuine Santos Rosewood inlays. The controls are intuitive and within comfortable reach.

The cockpit offers a semi-digital display with a 4.2-inch LCD MID or a 7-inch fully-digital cluster, a leather-wrapped and heated steering wheel. The driver's seat offers an excellent outward view and a comfortable driving position. The interior is spacious with 135.8 cubic-ft of total passenger volume, and it seats six to seven passengers. The front offers a pair of power-adjustable bucket seats equipped with heating and cooling, lumbar support, and two-position memory settings. The front seats are very spacious with 40.1-inches of headroom and 41-inches of legroom, making them super comfortable for six-foot-tall passengers.

The second-row offers 60/40 folding seats or heated 2nd-row captain's chairs depending on the trim. The second row has 38.5-inches of headroom and 39.4-inches of legroom, and they offer excellent comfort for longer durations. The third-row seats, however, are suited for children or shorter adults as they offer less space. Most trims feature leather seats with quilted designs. The flagship Signature model offers Nappa leather seats as standard.

The cabin also offers a feature-loaded infotainment system so that your family never misses out on entertainment. All trims come equipped with a 10.25-inch full HD touchscreen installed with the Mazda Connected Services interface that offers crisp graphics and an intuitive interface. The lower models feature a six-speaker audio system, whereas the costlier models come with a Bose 12-speaker premium audio system. Besides these, HD Radio, Apple CarPlay, Android Auto, wireless
